

Late action item from General Education Committee 10-23-18

I apologize that this is so very late, and I wouldn't normally ask that it be added to our minutes/business. But this action from us affects students for registration for the spring, so we would like it approved, if at all possible.

Due to a mistake in course number/title and advising regarding a Historic Preservation course, entering first year students were enrolled by Academic Services in HISP 100 with the (incorrect) intent that it would satisfy one of the courses for the Human Experience and Society (HES) general education requirement. At the time, this course did not have HES designation; it was approved for this at our 10/3 meeting.

The current business is as follows:

Rather than applying retroactive designation for the course, the committee agrees to individually give students enrolled in HISP 100 credit for the HES general education requirement. HES credit will be given only to those students in this course, this semester (Fall 2018), who have not satisfied their HES non-social science requirement.

Mistakes in advising in the future will not be considered a justification for exceptions to the published general education course list.
