The College of Business will host its ninth annual CAREER CHATS on March 24-25. Over fifty undergraduate classes will welcome business alumni who will discuss their career paths and give career advice.

The College of Business will host MONEY MATTERS on the Tuesday nights in March, beginning March 11th. The four sessions are open to ALL (including faculty and staff), but target graduating seniors, so please share with your students. Each session stands alone and will cover a different financial literacy topic. The program will be held in Woodard 202 at 8 p.m. each night. (attachment)

Thanks!
